FOR 2019

#LiveValves2019
#CRFandLeipzigHeart

Course Directors Dr. Michael Borger and Dr. Holger Thiele invite you to join them in Leipzig this December for the first-time ever Live Valves meeting!

Participate in an in-depth, discussion-centric exploration of the rapidly evolving worlds of interventional and surgical management of structural heart disease at Live Valves 2019!

By observing live procedures and listening to lectures from global experts, participants at every level of clinical practice can acquire immediately applicable knowledge about modern valvular disease management.

VIEW THE LIVE VALVES 2019 AGENDA

See what will be on offer in Leipzig this December, from numerous live cases to didactic sessions that make space for you to be a part of the conversation around valvular disease management.

Whether you're interested in listening to and participating in debates on treatment selection, exploring what's new in devices at the extensive exhibit hall, or simply brushing up on the newest in best procedural practices, you can learn about and explore everything there is to know about modern opinions in the field at Live Valves 2019.

WHY SHOULD YOU JOIN US IN LEIPZIG THIS DECEMBER?

- To become up to date on the best clinical practices for patients with structural heart disease
- To improve your understanding of transcatheter and surgical management of heart valve disease
- To watch and learn from expert faculty members as they perform live transcatheter aortic and mitral-tricuspid valve interventions
- To participate in extensive discussions and lively interactions with world-renowned faculty members
- And to enjoy the culture, music, and beauty of Leipzig and its renowned December Weihnachtsmarkt
